WASHINGTON-The newest crusade which the Advertising Council is preparing to unleash on the U.S. public has for its theme the slogan, "Opportunity Unlimited."

The idea, according to the Council's President Theodore S. Repplier of Washington, is to unsell the pessimists on any belief that 1954 is going to be a year of depression. The contrary opinion is that 1954 will probably be the second best year the U. S. ever had.

By newspaper and magazine advertising, by radio and TV spot announcements, by billboards, car cards and every other medium of information that advertising has anything to do with, the idea will be plugged that the United States is still growing and there's nothing to be afraid of.

Depressions often start from psychological factors. If these worries can be overcome and the opportunity for further investment and expansion sold to American business and consumers, the threat of a recession can be rolled back by a rolling readjustment, in the belief of the advertising industry.

The original idea for this morale-building, education-through-advertising campaign is attributed to William C. McKeehan, Jr., of New York. He tried it out on some 200 business leaders assembled in Washington recently for the tenth annual meeting of the Ad Council Associates. They went for it

So the idea was next submitted to the 60 Ad Council directors, meeting in New York, for formal approval. The plan is to have the campaign reach maximum intensity in the spring, when economists believe the economic down beat will be felt the worst.

It will be an interesting experiment to watch. It will be well worth noting whether the country can be psyched out of the blues of a business recession by a selling campaign. Or, to use a longer and blunter name for it, by domestic propaganda. For this is, after all, a beneficial application of the old trick of making people believe something by telling them, often and long enough that it's so.

The success of the Advertising Council is nearly 100 public service campaigns over the past dozen years is proof enough that this is a good technique, and that it works.

The Ad Council meeting in New York on Feb. 18 was something of an anniversary. For it was on that date, 1942, that the organization was incorporated in New York as a non-profit service organization of business interests to support the war effort.

The first campaign which the Council was asked to undertake was the scrap-iron-collection drive. It went over big. From there it was a natural step to go into the U.S. savings bond sale promotion-a task which the council is still at.

Fat salvage, waste paper collection, recruitment of student nurses, WACs and skilled labor for the war industries were other campaigns put over by liberal use of donated advertising copy, space and time. Encouraging the home folks to use more V-air mail to get more letters to servicemen overseas was another campaign that paid off.

Increasing the supply of plasma for war casualties through the Red Cross blood donor campaign was one of the most significant and most successful of the promotion efforts of the Ad Council in both World War II and the Korean war.

Among the peacetime crusades which the Ad Council has run are these: Promotion of the Freedom Train which toured the country to show historical documents. A Better Schools campaign put on with the coopreation of the Parent-Teacher Assn. Highway Safety, promoted with the National Safety Council. Civil Defense protection. The sending of CARE packages for foreign relief.

Promotion of the Red Cross enrollment, Community Chest collections, forest fire prevention, safety first, United Nations Day and savings bond sales are the hardy perennials. The Council has one notable flop to its credit. This was the effort to promote foreign trade. People just couldn't be aroused

The great merit of the Ad Council is that it doesn't cost the government or the taxpayers a cent. Several hundred big business advertisers, agencies and media donate from $500 to $15,000 annually to support the Council, then donate $100 million worth of their space and time for its public service messages.

Interesting Activities Help Make Happy Married Life

By Ruth Millett

If you want your marriage to be happy don't concentrate on trying to make your husband happy. Instead, exert yourself to making life adventurous and interesting to both of you.

A man can get bored with marriage, even if he has the kind of wife who puts his happiness first and does everything she can to make him

He isn't apt to get bored with marriage if he has the kind of wife who has enough imagination and energy to keep life interesting.

Such wives always have their husbands interested in some project.

They always take the lead socially, making an effort to get to know interesting, stimulating people, instead of settling for a few friends that chance has placed in their path They encourage their husbands to have a goal in life, and by the time one goal is reached they are looking ahead to a new one. New And Different

They aren't afraid to take a chance, try something new, or look for better ways of doing things. They never encourage a man to feel sorry for himself. Instead, they encourage him to make the most of his potentialities and his job. They build up a man's ego, not by excessive flattery, but by honest admiration that expresses itself in many little ways. They rely on their husbands, but don't lean on them.

There would be fewer dull, unhappy marriages if more women could honestly say, "I've done everything I can to keep our life interesting and rewarding."

Being able to say "I've done everything I can to make my husband happy" is no substitute for helping to make his life richer and more reward-

Evidently Alben Barkley, former vice president, is running again for the Senate on the Democratic ticket. Before he was elevated to Veep under former President Truman, he held a Senate spot from Kentucky for a long spell.

The old warhorse is 76 now, but he hasn't lost his taste for battle. When you've had a lifetime of political combat, you don't enjoy sitting at home, stripped of your titles, watching other politicos cavort on your TV set.

What Barkley wants, plainly, is to get back on the Washington scene, and back on the transmitting end of the TV network, where he once was comfortably installed.

Those who know Kentucky politics would not like to bet that he won't make it.

Indo-China Could Be Costly

As the April Geneva conference approaches, the French think more and more about the prospects of some kind of truce in Indo-China. But just what sort of shape this truce could take, no one seems to know.

Everyone understands that this is no Korea. There is no firm battle line which can be translated into a truce barrier. In the north, the French hold "islands" of territory around which the Communist Viet Minh ebb and flow. The rebels have sent relatively thin tentacles probing southward into Laos. Further down the Indo-Chinese peninsula, Red guerrillas terrorize the countryside but do not occupy any soil perma-

This fluid struggle almost defies settlement through bargaining over land. But Premier Laniel of France evidently does not consider the matter

He has hinted he might countenance an agreement under which the Viet Minh would withdraw all forces from southerly Cambodia and Laos, and would restrict their armies to certain specified sectors in Viet Nam to the north.

In other words, the northern portions of Indo-China would be pockmarked with enclaves of Communist power. Since at least one of these would touch the Chinese border, the Viet Minh would continue to have access to material aid from China and Russia, should those countries wish to go on supplying the rebels secretly.

Thus these pockets would represent a continuing military threat to the French and the non-Communist natives holding the rest of Indo-

It is hard to see how the French could take much of their military strength out of the country without running the risk that the Reds would break out to overwhelm the weakened opposition.

Even assuming strict adherence by the Reds to truce boundaries and other conditions, the Viet Minh pockets in Indo-China would be focal points for delivery of heavy propaganda barrages and other devices of peaceful penetration.

The general consensus of outside observers is that any such arrangement, besides being a flimsy makeshift of doubtful workability, would doom Indo-China to ultimate Communist domi-

We do not know, of course, that the Reds would even accept the kind of truce Laniel is hinting at. But if they would, the French ought to appreciate the probable final price. It could be almost as high as total defeat in the field.

They'll Have A Job Enlisting A Crew

At Long Beach, Calif., there is a Navy shipyard that is slowly settling into the harbor. Sandbags are needed now to keep some work areas

The Navy would like to close this establishment, because of this problem and because it is instituting an economy drive. But California politicians have been applying pressure on the Navy brass in Washington to keep the yard going

Perhaps the Navy ought to strike a deal with these fellows: Allow the yard to stay open if the politicians who want it that way will man the sandbag barricades.

Husband Must Realize Wife Is a Full Business Partner

By Ruth Millett

A man with no understanding of what a wife and mother actually does in the role of homemaker protests a recent statement in this column that a wife earns the right to be a full business partner of her husband's.

Says he: "The job of dishwashing is a flunky's job and calls for only a flunky's wages. Housecleaning is also a menial job. As for laundry, a commercial laundry will wash and iron a shirt for 25 cents and furnish the soap and water."

Though there are few men who actually realize how much time, energy, thought, planning, decision-making and patience go into the job of being a housewife, most men, fortunately, don't take the naive attitude that making a home for a family is a flunky's job.

Few men could afford to hire done or find any working person to do all that the average wife and mother does for her family She is far more than a cook, dishwasher, housekeeper, and laundress.

Variety Of Jobs

She is a purchasing agent, interior decorator, a hostess, often a chauffeur, a baby sitter, a childguidance expert, a nurse, pershaps a gardener,

No one can measure the thought and effort she puts into such things as keeping peace in the family, building self-confidence in her children, seeing to it that no one in the family feels inferior or unloved, keeping friendships alive and encouraging her husband.

Any man is foolish who doesn't at least glimpse the importance of the wife's contribution to the

And any man who thinks of a homemaker in less than those words simply deserves to spend the rest of his days in a rooming house, eating his meals out, and sending his shirts to a laundry. Sure, he could exist like that, but he would be getting just what he paid for-a mere existence.

The truth about the picketing of Home Lumber Company by Teamster's Union, Local No. 534

We have recently been approached by Sedalia townspeople and our customers asking why we are unable to settle the strike being carried on by some of our employees as members of the Teamsters Union Local No. 534. Under the circumstances we feel that a complete explanation is due the people of Sedalia and surrounding territory.

During the early part of 1953, certain union representatives came to us and demanded that we enter into a contract agreeing to compel our emloyees to join the union or discharge them from their jobs in the event they failed to do so. We refused on the ground that this would not be fair to our employees-that employees should be free to choose whether or not they wanted to join the union; also, because the union does not represent a majority of our employees, that it would be a violation of law for us to force them to join the union or be discharged from their jobs for refusal to do so.

The union shop provision would require that any employee we hire must become a member of the union within 30 days and if any time thereafter the employees union dues become delinquent we must discharge that employee.

After several months negotiation we eventually agreed tentatively to all clauses in the revised contract such as wages, hours, vacations, holidays, working conditions and all other matters except the union shop or maintenance of membership with the requirement that all employees belong to the union on penalty of losing their jobs included therein.

We have never had any objection and have none at this time whatever to our emloyees being members of the union if they wish to do so but feel that such decision would be for the employee to make and not for ourselves.

In Sedalia, we have always employed union contractors to do our construction and building.

Yet today, union pickets are picketing our place of business with the intention of causing us to suffer substantial losses in business and goodwill. Despite our willingness to negotiate and tentatively agree to all other demands of the union representatives, the union continues to allege that we are unfair to labor.

The union is not yet attempting to coerce other lumber dealers in this city to force their employees to join the union and none of these other dealers have attempted to force their employees to do so. Our best information is that none of them have a union shop contract. When the union asked our employees to walk out on strike one regular employee and one part-time employee walked out and began picketing. All other employees refused to comply with the wishes of the union and have remained on the job. They can stay on their jobs whether union members or not according to their wishes and we do not care to deprive them of their right to choose for themselves nor of their right to work because they do not belong to the union.

The Home Lumber Company is the guinea pig in spite of the fact that its dealings with its employees and with the union are as generous as those of any other yard in Sedalia. But if the Home Lumber Company agrees to violate the trust of its own employees in the matter of their freedom to work, it is probable that the union would swiftly use our concessions to force other dealers to comply with their demands.

We sincerely hope this explanation will clarify the situation and that you will understand the true reason for the picket being in front of our place of business.

These are the facts to date. Needless to say, we will appreciate your support.

HOME LUMBER COMPANY:

Where is your home? Is it not true that it is Ledigh Lumber Company, R. A. Long Building, Kansas City, Missouri? This is in answer to your deliberate attempt to mislead the general public by false statement, in a paid advertisement in The Sedalia Democrat, March 15, 1954 issue. The history of the dispute between this Labor organization and your Company is as follows:

1. On December 29, 1952, we wrote you advising that we renresented a majority of your employees and requested a meeting for the purpose of negotiating a collective bargaining agreement, no answer to that letter was received.

2. Thereafter, we wrote you on several occasions at intervals of about a month apart, requesting that you meet with us and finally in answer to a telephone call, you did meet with representatives of this Union, at the Bothwell Hotel and simply stated that "you saw no purpose in writing a contract."

3. Because of your repeated refusal to sign a collective bargaining agreement, we were finally compelled, on May 7, 1953, to file a charge of unfair labor practice with the National Labor Relations Foard in which it was stated that:

(Since on or about December 29, 1952, the employer (Home Lumber Co.) by its officers, agents and employees refused and continues to refuse to bargain collectively and confer in good faith with authorized agents of Teamsters Local Union No. 534. A. F. of L., a Labor Organization, chosen by a majority of its drivers and yard men ... to represent them for the purposes of collective bargaining in respect to rates of pay, wages, hours of employment and other conditions of employment.)

4. On May 21, 1953, the Home Lumber Company agreed in a written "Settlement agreement" filed with the National Labor Relations Board that it would not "in any manner interfere with, restrain or coecre its employees in the exercise of their rights to self organization, to form Labor Organization, to join or assist Teamsters Local Union No. 534, A. F. of L." and agreed to bargain collectively with the Union.

5. After the unfair Labor practice charge was disposed of by your having admitted the truth of the charge and that this Union did represent a majority of your employees, we made repeated attempts to arrive at a mutually satisfactory collective bargaining agreement. One of the proposals which the majority of your employees were insisting on was a clause calling for Union

In view of your past unfair labor practices, the employees knew it was essential to obtain some form of Union Security. The National Labor Relations Act permits employees to protect themselves by negotiating and agreeing upon a clause under which employees must within 30 days become members of a Union and thereafter pay their dues.

Among other things, it required negotiation for a period of two weeks to get your company to agree to a clause under which grievances of the employees could be finally submitted to arbitration by a neutral person.

That type of clause is found in 99-44/100% of all collective bargaining agreements and is intended to provide a method of adjusting disputes between employer and employees without resorting to strikes or lockouts.

This latest attempt to mis-representation to the public is a further evidence that you are acting in bad faith in your dealing with this labor organization.

ROYAL COWGER, Business Representative Teamsters Local Union No. 534
